

DOXOLOGY

Matthew 21:1-11

Doxology comes from a compound Greek word—Doxa meaning honor or glory/Logia meaning word. Doxology is a word of praise or glory. Theology is of very little use to us if its end and purpose is not doxology. If you have theology without doxology, you just have dead, cold orthodoxy.

3 Questions: Who has the _____? Who has the _____? Who deserves the _____?

We are confessing that God has the _____ to make the world _____ where it has gone _____.

If we truly believe that it's His _____ and His _____, we will demonstrate that by properly giving Him all the _____.

God's Kingdom is "God's _____ in God's _____ under God's _____ and _____."

The Lord's Prayer is meant to _____ and _____ and _____ our lives.

As we attribute the Kingdom, power, and glory forever to Jesus, we must do so in the shadow of the humility, self-sacrifice, and love expressed on the cross. It's in this love the kingdom of God manifests itself on earth as peace. Ultimately, we see in Christ on the cross a demonstration of the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.
